*Supporting Powerful Interactions
Through the Language of Play*

Christina Riddle, LMSW

5:30 - 6:30 PM

Christina Riddle is a Licensed Master Social Worker in the state of New Mexico, has an Infant Mental Health endorsement, and is in the process of becoming rostered in Child-Parent Psychotherapy. She is currently the program director at the WNMU Family Counseling Center which is embedded in an early care and education center. Christina has spent much of her career focused on supporting, connecting, and strengthening families, caregivers, and systems. Through positions in childcare settings, shelters, foster care agencies, early intervention, and home visitation, she has developed a deep respect and belief in the unique gifts which exist in every family. Christina brings an infant and early childhood mental health framework to all interactions and looks for opportunities to enhance the creation of safe, secure attachment relationships between children and their caregivers. She fundamentally believes in the power of relationships to heal wounds, promote growth, and attain insights.
